§6. Teaching during the spring semester –keeping up with COVID19- related challenges	Roger J informs that the Dean has now decided that no campus teaching is allowed, all teaching is provided digitally until March 23. We do not currently know if it will be digital teaching throughout this spring semester and if it is possible to get an exemption for the coming teaching period (end of March-beginning of June). Roger adds that the lack of clear guidelines about how to interpret previous instructions that international students should be prioritized for campus-based teaching makes the present situation very difficult – both for teachers and students. Elia also adds that some students who are abroad prefer to stay there until it is announced that there will be campus teaching but that students who are in Lund are not always coping well. Feedback is welcomed from students: Ege informs that second year students are not so disturbed by the all-digital state because they work with their Theses. Linn informs that First year students are disturbed &amp; tired of the situation.	Soon the autumn term will have to be planned and it will (probably) be easier for everyone to plan out of an assumption that we will be in a more “normal” situation Autumn 2021. At the same time, it is difficult to know how to inform the next group of students (K2021) without any clear guidelines from the faculty.
§7 Programme revision – the new Programme syllabus (utbildningsplan) (decision)	The syllabus for the program will be decided and some points are discussed in this meeting. - Goals Geoffrey, Roger P, Roger J, Elia and Mikael J review the new texts and edit as necessary.	The suggested revised syllabus is approved by the Programme leadership group! Elia will send out the syllabus for the program and also the syllabus for the courses will be sent. Roger P will also have access to "DropBox" where the course syllabi for the courses are collected. Åsa will add information about how long the students can study according to the old syllabus.

§8. Other business Adjournment	Elia summarizes experiences from ongoing seminars in the context of the advanced Developmental Psychology course, and comments that our students are committed, and very skilled in handling the social and communication circumstances that digital teaching platforms require. Thumbs up for our students'
